Program Mission:

Students will be eligible to take the NHA (National Healthcare Association) Phlebotomy certification exam to become certified phlebotomists. Students will be able to earn a non-credit training certificate from Klamath Community College.

Course Description:

This 10-week course has 9 hours of classroom instruction per week and a 40-hour internship with a local provider to practice phlebotomy on real patients.

Participation and attendance are mandatory to be placed in an internship and to take the national certification exam. Phlebotomy is the practice of drawing blood from patients and taking the blood specimens to the laboratory to prepare for testing. During this course, you will be shown how to draw blood, known as a venipuncture. You will practice your venipuncture skills in the classroom with fellow students to be prepared and confident before you begin your internship.

This course has a student cap of 15 students. Students will be entered into the program on a first-come, first-serve basis.
